

Nicholas Bloom

William D. Eberle Professor of Economics, Stanford University

Nicholas (Nick) Bloom is the William D. Eberle Professor of Economics at Stanford University. He has been researching working from home for 20 years, winning a Guggenheim Fellowship for this in 2022. He has been heavily involved with policy, including meeting President Barack Obama, and speaking in the White House's 2014 Working Families Summit. Professor Bloom has consulted with hundreds of CEOs and managers and has been covered extensively on working from home by international media including The New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, CNN, BBC, the Financial Times, and The Economist. He was called the "Prophet of remote work" by Fortune Magazine, as well as "America's best work-from-home expert" by Business Insider, and was elected to The Bloomberg 50 for advice on working from home.