

Fadi Hanna

Chief Compliance Officer

Bloomberg LP

New York, NY, USA

Fadi Hanna is the Chief Compliance Officer of Bloomberg LP, based in New York City, advising on regulatory matters across Bloomberg's business globally. Previously, Fadi was a Managing Director in Compliance at JPMorgan Chase & Co., who advised on bank and securities regulatory matters across JPMorgan's businesses. Fadi served in multiple leadership roles at JPMorgan, including as the Firm's head of Conflicts of Interest and Fiduciary Compliance, as the Chief Compliance Officer of the Firm's Swap Dealers, and Head of Firmwide Volcker Compliance, in addition to his work in privacy, anticorruption, and political contributions compliance in JPMorgan's Investment Bank. Prior to joining JPMorgan, Fadi was a litigator at Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP, involved in complex commercial litigation in both state and federal courts. Fadi began his career at Accenture, where he worked on a team focused on technology for financial services clients. Fadi holds a law degree from Yale Law School (Class '06), and a B.S from Duke University.