

David Richter '92

Global Head of Business and Corporate Development, Uber

David Richter is Uber's Global Head of Business and Corporate Development, with responsibility for business development and strategic relationships. From 2011-2013, David was Chief Strategy Officer at Say Media. From 2010-2011, he was Executive Vice President, Corporate Development, of Sonic Solutions (formerly NASDAQ: SNIC), a video-on-demand provider acquired by Rovi, now known as TiVo (NASDAQ: TIVO), in February 2011. Before that, from 2004-2010, David was Executive Vice President, Business and Legal Affairs, at DivX, Inc. (formerly NASDAQ: DIVX), a digital media company acquired by Sonic Solutions in October 2010. At DivX, he led the following teams: business and corporate development, product and legal. David is a graduate of Yale Law School and Cornell University.